

Northern Lights

The book Northern Lights, is a fantastic book, by author Phillip Pullman. It is set in Oxford, in a place called Jordan College. The main character is a girl called Lyra, who is not your normal main character, as she not just a little angel. Over the course of the book, Lyra becomes the owner of a certain incredibly rare object, one of the last of it's kind. Soon, she will travel to the far north, meet John Faa, King of the gyptians, fight with Iorek Byrnison, an armored bear, by her side, and battle a fearsome enemy she never expected could be so cruel. This book has also been made into a film, called The Golden Compass. The next book in the series, His Dark Materials, is The Subtle Knife. This book is in the secondary section, in the Caxton College Library. So are the other books, The Subtle Knife, and The Amber Spyglass.
